SPPC Team Report

This year's IMAGIN Student Poster and Paper Competition was held at Constitution Hall in Lansing on April 5th, 2016

Although I am disappointed by the low turnout for this year's SPPC (11 posters, 1 paper), the actual day of the event went well. Students participants, attendees of the User Group Meeting and judges seemed fairly happy with how the day unfolded.

Raw Numbers:

Total Participants: 20-25

Total Student Submissions: 12 (11 posters, 1 paper)

Total Students in Attendance: 6

Universities Represented: Aquinas College, GVSU, EMU, Ferris State, LSSU, CMU, Cornerstone

IMAGIN Members in Attendance: 4 (Andrew Giguere, Janet Mocadlo, Pete Schneider, Tom VanBruggen)

Judges: 3 (Claudia Walters, UM-Dearborn; Rebecca Rogers, LCC; Ann Burns, SEMCOG)

Winners

Best Cartographic Design:

Whitney Lambert, Cornerstone University – "North Country Trail through Tahquamenon Country."

Best Analytical Presentation:

Alex Lynch, Central Michigan University – "Experimental Assessment of Supervised Algorithms to Classify Targeted Land-Cover using Ultra-High Resolution Multispectral USA Imagery."

Graduate Student Research Paper Presentation:

Chris Hippensteel, Central Michigan University – "Digitizing Great Lakes Coastal Wetlands: A Case Study of GIS Integration."

Activities:

The morning session began with light refreshments and networking. Posters were displayed in the Constitution Hall Atrium. This was a much better venue than last year and allowed for more circulating and less crowding. Everett Root and his team were super helpful in getting posters mounted and set on easels. During this time I pretty much mingled, attempting to speak with/collect information from students. I also met and briefed each of the judges with the help of Pete Schneider. Tom set up the A/V system. I also attempted to give out as many Ellis Parking passes as I could.

During the actual morning session of the User Group Meeting, the judges evaluated the posters and had a separate room to deliberate in.

I presented the poster awards in the atrium.

Lunch 11:45 AM - 1:30 PM.

Our sole paper submitter, Chris Hippensteel, presented his work for about a half-hour starting at 1:30 PM. We then had a short award ceremony and then a panel discussion on GIS education. This topic was recommended by Everett Root. Our informal panel discussion lasted a little more than one hour and we had positive audience participation.

Kudos:

I'd like to thank the SPPC Team for their hard work in making their educational contacts. This is the critical component of making the SPPC happen.

Thanks to Everett Root for providing us with space, poster board, mounting materials and food. He also advertised the SPPC along with the User Group Meeting.

Thanks to Pete Schneider for all of the help along the way and for beating the bushes for presenters at the last minute. This event wouldn't have happened without your support.

Thanks to Tom VanBruggen for going over the A/V stuff with me and keeping me on track as far as collecting student digital submissions, video releases, signatures, etc.

Thanks to our judges for their willingness to volunteer.

Thanks to Janet Moadlo for showing up to help and for recommending Ann Burns as a judge candidate.

Turnout:

Turnout at this event was surprisingly low given the past performance of previous years.

I consider the root causes of this to be:

1. Professor Bottleneck

In order to attract students the SPPC must function through instructors and other staff. These intermediaries are sometimes very willing to pass on material, but in some cases are totally uninterested. The inability to speak to students directly is a major impediment to garnering their participation.

2. Non-participation of Previous Year Key Institutions

Several of the key institutions that had previously supplied a number of poster and paper presenters did not do so this year. For example, while both Rebecca Rogers (LCC) and Claudia Walters (UM-Dearborn) were judges, we had no submissions from their institutions.

3. Ad-Hoc Contact Schedule

The SPPC Team conducted roughly three rounds of contacts this year. The first ran from Mid-August to January 1st, 2016. The second from late January to late February. The third ran through the month of March.

As the team leader, I did not set an explicit schedule for making educational contacts and I feel that this ad-hoc method was detrimental to turnout. Only certain key institutions were contacted early in the school year (August-Sept). This is a critical period to make educational contacts in order to encourage instructors to insert an SPPC focused project into their curriculum.

4. Failure of Leadership

As the SPPC Team lead, my leadership was lacking in several areas

A. I never established a dedicated schedule for the SPPC Team to meet. As a result we had few meetings (5) and never had every member of the Team on the conference call. Rather than having more meetings as the event drew closer, we actually had fewer.

B. I failed to follow up with both education contacts as well as team members. My approach to education contacts was to contact them in any way possible be it e-mail, voice mail or verbal-phone communication. I probably spoke verbally with less than 50% of my contacts. In addition, I did very little follow up to assist and support team members in their efforts to make their contacts. My belief is that the SPPC Team needs to strive for 100% verbal communication with education contacts at least once during the planning period for the SPPC. Nothing beats actually speaking to the individual.

C. I did not give explicit instructions to team members regarding how they should make their education contacts. I basically said "please make your education contacts," and made little effort to follow up this with. I encouraged SPPC Team members to make their contacts "any way feasible," but did not actively push Team Members to make verbal contact over e-mail or voicemail contacts.

D. I spent very little time garnering input from the team itself. When I took over as Team Lead, I basically said "look, this is what we're doing - we're repeating last year's event" and never really sought feedback to improve the event. I feel like this relegated the other team members to being cold callers as opposed to being equal members of the team.

5. Scheduling

Students have difficulty attending as a result of busy work/school schedules. 4 of the 6 attendees left prior to the afternoon session because they had to attend afternoon classes.

My Recommendations:

1. Establish a set Contact Schedule, start early (Mid-August) and strive to fully complete each cycle of contacts.
2. Establish a specific time and day for the SPPC Team to meet each month. For example, schedule a meeting for 3:00 PM on every fourth Thursday of the month. As the event gets closer, meet more frequently, not less.
3. The first SPPC meeting needs to be scheduled for late July or early August in order to insure that the Team is ready to start making those initial contacts as early as possible in the school year.
4. Encourage instructors to incentivize students to participant in the SPPC.
5. Reach out through social media. Short-circuit the professor bottleneck by speaking directly to students.
6. Revise the SPPC Flyer. Simplify the date structure and combine the registration into the body of the flyer. Students should be able to get all the relevant information and then fill out the registration indicating if they are an undergraduate or graduate and what category they are entering. Make the flyer a fillable .PDF. Eliminate extraneous dates (conference date, graduate student deadline for submissions). Set one generic deadline two weeks before the SPPC. That way when the "final" deadline hits the team has a tripwire to start making emergency calls to key contacts to request posters or papers.
7. Devote significant contact time to the list of key contacts/institutions. Make sure to not only contact these individuals, but to assist them in any way that you can to advertise the SPPC.
8. Construct a "Key Participant List" of individuals/institutions that definitely must be contacted and "wooded."
9. Assign one team member to each institution. Do not split institutions between members. For example, one person communicates with all the contacts at GVSU, one person communicates with all the contacts at EMU, etc.
10. Identify the most significant contact from each institution and focus on that person. Do not ignore the other contacts from that institution, but make it a point to get the involvement of that key individual.

11. Have a back-up plan for the afternoon session in case of few paper submittals.

Participant Recommendations

1. Pair the SPPC with some sort of career/job fair.
2. SPPC posters should travel. Laminate multiple copies of the winner and distribute to professors willing to post alongside the flyer. That way students can say "wow, I can make a better poster than that..."
3. Establish a category for web maps.
4. Divide submissions into those done by individuals and those done by groups/teams.
5. Address inequity created by large universities having significant quantities of data and/or funding for student projects while smaller colleges/universities lack these.
6. Increase award/scholarship amount for posters.

Off-the-Wall Recommendations

1. Roll the SPPC into the IMAGIN Conference. Eliminate paper submissions for graduate students and allow everyone, both graduate and undergraduates, to submit posters. Display these posters in the map gallery. Either have everyone at IMAGIN vote or have a select panel of judges. This would allow more time for students to prepare and submit their posters.

IMAGIN Policy 2016-04 IMAGIN Executive Officers Election

Election of Executive Officers

The Nominating and Governance (N&G) Team will develop a slate of officers and propose it to the Board of Directors (Board) as part of the Annual Membership Meeting. Alternate slates will be requested from the Board.

If no alternate slate is brought forward, the sitting president will ask the Board for a vote by acclamation of the slate of officers.

If one or more alternate slates are brought forward, the Board will vote by secret ballot for the proposed slates. If no slate receives a majority of votes cast, the two slates with the most votes will participate in a run-off by secret ballot. The slate receiving the majority of votes will become the elected Executive Officers.

Secret ballots will be counted by a minimum of two members of the N&G Team. Any N&G Team member appearing on the ballot will recuse themselves from counting. If less than two N&G team members are available to count the ballots, the ballots will be counted by an IMAGIN management representative or by volunteers from the BOD not appearing on the ballot.

IMAGIN Policy 2016-03 IMAGIN Elections Procedure Policy

Development of Ballot and Collection of Candidate Biography

The Nominating and Governance (N&G) Team will develop a ballot containing the slate of candidates for the Board of Directors (Board) prior to the annual conference. Additionally, the N&G Team will obtain brief biographies of candidates to provide to the membership with the ballot.

Election Period

The election period will open not less than 14 days prior to the close of the election. The close of the election will coincide with the first full day of the Annual Conference. The deadline for ballot submission will be during the first day of the annual conference unless extenuating circumstances require delay, in which case, official communication will take place at the annual conference and via email to reach members not in attendance.

Ballot Format and Distribution

Any method of providing the ballot to the membership which ensures meeting the requirements of Article IV(B) of the IMAGIN bylaws will be considered by the N&G Team.

The ballot will be provided to all active members as of the data of ballot distribution. Completed ballots must be returned to the IMAGIN management team by whatever means (hand delivered or mailed paper, FAX, online submission, etc.) deemed appropriate by the Board prior to the deadline set by the N&G Team.

Ballot and Election Certification, and Certified Election Results Retention

The ballots will be certified by a minimum of two N&G Team member(s) not appearing on the ballot. If there are less than two N&G Team members who do not appear on the ballot, the ballots will be certified by a qualifying N&G Team member (if any exist) plus an IMAGIN management representative and/or volunteer(s) from the Board not appearing on the ballot to make a certification team of two. The candidates with the highest vote counts will be elected to the Board. Should a two-way tie for the final position occur, the N&G Team will toss a coin to determine the elected candidate. Should a tie consisting of more than three candidates occur, all candidates names will be written on slips of paper and will be drawn at random by a neutral party for the selection of the last elected candidate.

The certified ballot count will be kept on file with the IMAGIN records for a minimum of one year.

3. We do have three new potential board candidates for the next election. They are Jon Merrick from Eaton County, April Kibby Wightman & Associates, and R. Michael Cousins from OHM Advisors.
4. We have Bio Statements from most of those running, but we need the rest ASAP. We would like to get the ballot out shortly so that all of the membership will have a chance to review it prior to voting.
5. We are starting to look at electronic polling/balloting. We will review some potential options for this and work to vet them and see how other groups are doing elections at this time.
